

DOODÁ (ABSOLUTELY NO!) DESERT ROCK POWER PLANT

A PRESENTATION ABOUT RESISTANCE TO ENERGY DEVELOPMENT ON INDIGENOUS LAND

The community of Chaco Rio in the Navajo Nation (SW of Farmington, New Mexico) has been blockading entry to the site of a proposed 1,500 megawatt coal fired power plant since December of 2006. Desert Rock would be the third coal plant within a 20-mile radius, in a region already suffering from extreme levels of toxic emissions.

SPEAKER: Elouise Brown

Elouise Brown is a Diné (Navajo) traditionalist and president of the Doodá Desert Rock committee. She will speak about dangers posed by the coal industry, the exploitation of indigenous land by energy companies, and the ongoing struggle to prevent the Desert Rock plant from ever existing.

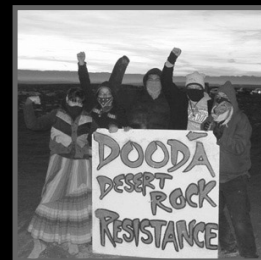

SHORT FILMS:

Making a Stand at Desert Rock - by Klee Benally (8:00)
Killing Coal: Four Corners in the Crosshairs (7:10)
Our Native Roots - Inside the Dooda Desert Rock Camp

CALIFORNIA DDR TOUR: MARCH 2010

FRESNO
MODESTO
STOCKTON
SACRAMENTO
RICHMOND
SAN FRANCISCO
BERKELEY

OAKLAND
SANTA CRUZ
WATSONVILLE
SANTA BARBARA
LOS ANGELES
RIVERSIDE
SAN DIEGO

EVENT DETAILS:

for more information and tour details:
doodadesertrock.com

Booking: scsolidarity@riseup.net
Elouise Brown: 505-947-6159